平成 26 年度 研究計画 Research Plan FY2014

主たる研究テーマ Principal Research Subject	Mood in Hungarian
The main focus of my investigations is still the categories of mood and modality in Hungarian modality from a cognitive linguistics perspective. After previous year's investigations and creating and analyzing an extended corpus of linguistic data I will continue with the systematic description of the phenomena in question. As a first stage, a review of the treatment of the category of mood in the theories of construction grammar and mental space theory will be necessary, as these two theories are very promising for the purposes of the analysis. Also, I will continue my investigations on extended reading. The goal of this research is setting up some standards for the evaluation of extensive reading materials in Hungarian in order to evaluate existing materials and help the creation of future ones.
